MEAD ELECTED HEAD OF HIGH SCHOOL BODY

A special election was held by the members of the high school student body yesterday afternoon to elect a president. A former election held for the same purpose resulted in a tie between Bryan Egan and William Mead. As a result of the election yesterday Mead becomes president. All vacancies in the staff of officers are now filled, although Mead's election to the presidency may make it necessary to elect some one to take his place as election clerk.

JOHN BRICKER left for Horseshoe yesterday afternoon. He will look after mining interests there.

SCHOOL CHILDREN START IN EARNEST TO PAY FOR BOND

Yesterday was certainly Liberty Bond day in the schools, and without any planning for such an event. It was simply a spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm on the part of the pupils, with the patriotic desire to do something of real value at this critical period and especially with the desire to see Nevada, and particularly Tonopah, lead in number of bonds sold per capita. The excitement was begun in the high school during the regular assembly at 9 o'clock in the morning. By a unanimous vote it was decided to purchase a bond by the high school in a body. The presidents of the four high school classes acted as a committee and went to the Tonopah Banking corporation to make the purchase. The fever quickly spread to the grades and they decided that it would be a simple matter for them combined to purchase a bond in the name of the grammar school and a committee was sent to make the purchase. While the children were told they might give some little entertainment to earn the money, number of them wanted to do something immediately and before evening enough pennies, nickels, dimes, and even dollars, were handed in to the various grade teachers to make the initial payment, the November payment, and some toward the December payment. One little girl brought five pennies that she had earned by washing dishes, and this is but one little sample of the self-sacrifice exhibited by numbers of them—sacrifices that would mean the billions the government needs if all the grown-ups of the country would do anything like as much accordingly.

The eighth grade then decided that in addition to assisting to pay for the grammar school bond they could pay for one themselves, and they sent a committee to buy their bond. The novel and interesting scheme evolved by them for the payment of their bond was given in The Bonanza last evening and has already brought results. Boys are out today cutting wood, washing automobiles, etc., and girls are washing dishes and helping with Saturday work. One of the girls has more than usual ability as an artist and will be glad to paint place cards for any lady desiring them. One lady has contracted with the boys for certain work to be done for three months at $1 per month and sealed the bargain by paying for one month in advance. Sixteen more such ladies can insure the money to pay for the bond by the time the payments are due. If more money is collected than is needed to pay for this bond the money will be used as a nucleus for the purchase of another bond when the next Liberty Bonds are offered for sale. The boys and girls intend to give full value for value received and to do the work they are called to do in a satisfactory manner. Any one who can make use of the help of these boys or girls outside of school hours should call Mr. Dilworth or Mr. Chapman.

ROVNIANEK'S WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS PETITION IS NOW FILED

Petition for a writ of habeas corpus for P. V. Rovnianek, the well-known mining man of Orizaba, has already been filed, so that in case Governor Boyle does not annul the extradition papers signed by Governor Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania the case may be taken immediately to the supreme court. The writ is returnable Monday. Rovnianek's attorneys are ready to present their case on that day. It is considered highly improbable that the writ will be denied. Governor Brumbaugh is now investigating all phases of the case, according to dispatches. So many telegrams appealing to Governor Boyle on behalf of Rovnianek have been received from Nevada cities and other points that Boyle told Rovnianek yesterday that the case was proving a decided money maker for the Western Union.

SEARLES LAKE SUIT EXPLAINED

RECENT CALIFORNIA DECISION DOES NOT AFFECT PENDING GOVERNMENT CASE.

Yesterday the supreme court of California handed down a decision in the case of Lee and others versus California Trona company, affirming a decision of the superior court of San Bernardino county, in favor of the Trona company. In view of the widespread interest in Nevada on the Searles Lake situation, Hugh H. Brown was interviewed with regard to the purport of this decision. Mr. Brown states that this was an ejectment suit, and was confined to a question of title between the Trona company and some of its rival claimants. It is one of a series of litigations which have been pending in the California courts in recent years concerning the Searles Lake. Mr. Brown states that neither this case, nor any of the other local cases in California have anything to do with the case of the United States government versus the California Trona company, recently argued in the interior department in Washington, in which case Mr. Brown appeared in behalf of the government. Mr. Brown states that a decision in the government case is expected some time in November. The government case grew out of the Trona company's application for patent for certain of the placer locations at Searles Lake. The government challenged the title of the Trona company upon several legal grounds and, among others, upon the ground that the California Trona company, although an American corporation, is owned and controlled by aliens. SURPRISE PARTY FOR TEACHER BY PUPILS

Last evening the pupils of Miss Lacque's grade gave her a surprise Halloween party in the gymnasium. There had been much mystery in the air for several days preceding, while the necessary preparations were being made, and the success of the affair shows that some good little heads were at work in the planning. Miss Lacque was inveigled into the gymnasium, where she found the pupils gathered for an evening of solid enjoyment. After games appropriate for the occasion, a delightful lunch of sandwiches, cake and punch was served and then, with the lights turned low, several children gave their hearers delicious thrills of fright by relating ghost stories. Mr. Dilworth and Miss Bennett acted as chaperones and dismissed the children at an early hour.

BUTLER THEATER.

Do you believe in universal suffrage? "Her Excellency the Governor," which will be shown at the Butler this evening, will not only help you to decide, but will also give you a keen insight into the running of a political machine. The play stars Wilfred Lucas and Eida Millar.

Lucas appears as the governor of the state, who is in the coils of a crooked politician. He is in love with Eida Millar, as Sylvia Mardays. She refuses to marry him, as she thinks his political aspirations are changing his character. Under the thumb of Keller, the politician, he vetoes some important reform bills. Sylvia is incensed and breaks with him. The suffrage party has allied itself with the reform element and has put at stake in the field to oppose the machine element. Sylvia is put on the reform ticket for lieutenant governor and is elected after an active campaign. In this position she is able to hold her lover in check when his greatest moment of temptation comes and saves not only his self-respect, but his honor as well.

In addition to the feature, a Triangle comedy, "Adored in Court," will be shown. Tomorrow, Marie Doro, in "Heart's Desire," and a two-reel Keystone comedy, Watch for "The Divorcee" (Reno), to be shown Monday.

U.S. ARTILLERY

"In continuation of their training as a nucleus for instruction later a contingent of some battalions of our first contingents, in association with veteran French battalions, are in the first line trenches on a sector on the French front. They are supported by some batteries of our artillery, in association with the French batteries. The sector remains normal. Our men adapted themselves to actual trench conditions in a most satisfactory manner."

MRS. HARRY GRIER was a passenger today for Goldfield to spend Sunday with friends.
